Walking With Christ (PT. I)

PSALM 86:11 NKJV – (11) Teach me Your way, O LORD; I will walk in Your truth; Unite my heart to fear Your name.

I was raised in a strict but very disciplined family. Once I graduated from high school, I found myself indulging in activities or experiences that my parents would not have been proud of. You see I decided to walk with Satan, than with Christ. I was getting what I wanted, but not what I needed. I wanted to be with the crowd.

As the years progressed, I thanked God for sparing my life, having mercy, being patient and loving me the way He does! Through all the heart ache and disappointment, He waited. Mistakes are made in our everyday life, but I still choose to walk with Christ. You see just like when I was a child He holds my hand and guides me. There are times when He will even pick me up and carry me.

Never the less, I prefer Him to be in total control and I do prefer it that way! When I let go or pull away from His hand, eventually I will get lost. This is when we experience darkness because the light is no longer with me. Therefore, I refuse to let go!

Every morning, I pray the prayer of PSALM 86:11. It is what I want. What I desire. I do not want God as my co-pilot, I want Him flying this life in total control. If you desire the same, tell Him. Don't worry about your past. Ask Him to forgive you, make that change and take His hand. Only He can clean you up and make you righteous.
