

DON'T GIVE UP ON THE FATHER

NOVEMBER 27, 2023

2 CORINTHIANS 6:18 NKJV – (18) “I will be a Father to you, and you shall be My sons and daughters, says the LORD Almighty.”

Just when you thought that we'd left some of the challenges of 2023 behind, a new set of problems arise. That's also true on the national front, but I also know it is true for many of us in our personal lives. No matter how much we try to follow God in faithfulness and obedience, we still contend with the struggles that manifest themselves. Struggles that involve finances, health, doubts, disputed relationships and so many other things.

But no matter how difficult things might get from time to time, we can rest assured that God knows and He cares! We will never have to walk alone through these challenges. When I'm feeling overwhelmed, I have to remind myself who God is. I have to remind myself of all He is doing to demonstrate His love towards me. Such scriptures as the one above, I simply refer to.

Remember, we don't just relate to God as His servants but also as beloved sons and daughters. He cares for us just as a good father cares for his kids. He loves us like a good father shows his love. He protects us as a good father would protect his children. And he guides us just as a good father would guide his children. Therefore, I realize just how much greater our Heavenly Father is. His love is.....

Consistent, constant and everlasting.

No problem, big or small is either too large or too insignificant for Him to care about. Felling down and out?

Go to God.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK: Father, give your people the needed strength to get through the difficult patches in my journey.
